

Karen Wensley

Karen is an adjunct lecturer in professional ethics at the University of Waterloo, and the author of the monthly ethics column, "The Right Thing," in CPA Magazine. She retired from Ernst & Young in 2010, where she served as a tax partner and the national HR leader. She is on the board of directors of Gore Mutual Insurance Company and Trillium Health Partners. Karen continues to work with senior professionals as an executive coach and with professionals new to Canada as a volunteer mentor with the Toronto Region Immigrant Employment Council. She is also the author of The Power of Personal Branding for Career Success, published by Chartered Professional Accountants of Canada (CPA Canada).